The University is offering every faculty for its students to protect themselves against influenza by inoculation. To refuse to co-operate is not only short-sighted, but hardly public spirited.

ANOTHER REASON FOR RATIFYING

Temperance workers, after carefully compiling facts about the situation in every state of the Union, announce that it is likely the federal prohibition amendment will be ratified before February 1. Fifteen states have already ratified, and the Legislatures of practically all other states meet in January.

This is one more reason why the Missouri General Assembly should lose no time in recording its approval of the measure. The time to strike a blow or cast a ballot is before the fight is over. Missouri doesn't want to limp along with its ratification after the amendment has already become part of the United States Constitution.

OUR SECRET ENEMIES

Dispatches from Washington say Congress will be asked to authorize the deportation from this country of the 3,000 to 4,000 enemy aliens whose activities have been such that this Nation has been compelled to confine them in internment camps. It is also stated that Congress will be asked to make it impossible for them to return to this country.

The measure has much to commend it. It would be an impossible situation to permit them to go back to their homes and live among the persons whom they had tried to blow up or among the relatives of American soldiers whose lives had been lost through the activities of spies.

Men who wore the German uniform and fired machine guns at our troops might make good citizens if they migrate to this country in future years. But persons who made their homes in this country, who perhaps had sworn allegiance to the United States, who have declared their loyalty at every chance, and who then set themselves among the secret enemies of the Government, are hardly the kind of persons from whom we may hope to make good citizens or a great Nation.

HOW Y. M. C. A. SPENDS ITS PART OF WAR WORK FUND

Following is one of the first statements designed to show the American public how the Y.M.C.A. is spending its share of the funds recently contributed in the United War Work Campaign. The statement is issued by the Y.M.C.A. National War Work Council.

A million and a quarter dollars a month has been required to carry on the vast work of the American Y.M.C.A. in Great Britain, according to some facts and figures offered as the result of a survey just completed. The information has been obtained particularly with a view of ascertaining what the needs for the immediate future are. The report shows that the Y.M.C.A. program has assumed greater proportions than ever since the cessation of firing.

The Red Triangle army in Great Britain now numbers about 600 secretaries and 400 women workers, including a number of volunteers. There is every certainty that these staffs must be increased. Officials of the organization report that with the conclusion of peace at hand there will be more uniformed Americans on leave, more with leisure time on their hands and consequently a great deal more work for the "Y" secretaries to do.

"There is nothing too good for an American boy in England," is the Y.M.C.A. slogan here. Working on this assumption, it is planning to extend its activities in education, athletics, technical training, religion, and entertainment. The $1,250,000 a month it is spending at present has been used to carry on this program, as well as for building of huts, renting of accommodations and administrative expense.

Already there is a great shortage of sleeping quarters for officers and men of both the Army and Navy in Southampton, Liverpool and other cities, as well as in London itself. In the matter of acquiring sleeping accommodations for additional men $250,000 will be needed with which to take over leases and supply furniture of a plain substantial type that the men may spend their rest leaves in comfort after their arduous work on the line or behind the line.

Another $100,000 will be required to perfect and carry on the educational projects, obtain and erect school buildings, buy text books and equipment and acquire proper instructors.

In a lump sum there has just been spent $75,000 for musical instruments and entertainment of the boys in Great Britain. While this may seem a large sum, the musical instruments paid for themselves the first night they were used in the amusement and wholesome entertainment they gave the boys in the various camps. Twice this sum will be needed for the next six months.

Each month is needed $150,000 for stocks of good such as cigarettes, canned goods, candles, aside from the regular canteen supplies. Another $50,000 for buildings, tents, huts, equipment, etc.

Even the movie program needs $2,000 monthly just to keep the boys entertained.

The "Y" officials in Great Britain are figuring that practically every single phase of activity will call for more men and a larger program of expenditure than was needed before the war.

ENGLISH BOYS' PEACE TERMS

Would Forbid German Language, German Laws and German Wealth.

By United Press.

LONDON, Dec. 14. (By Mail).—If Germany's fate were left in the hands of Young England, the Germans would get no quarter.

Schoolchildren were asked to write a statement of the terms on which they would make peace with Germany. This is the response of a 9-year-old boy:

"My peace terms with Germany are:

Are You Open-Minded?

The average American is open-minded.

American business is conducted by true Americans of vision, open-minded men who believe in their country and strive to meet their country's needs. The men in the packing industry are no exception to the rule.

The business of Swift & Company has grown as the nation has progressed. Its affairs have been conducted honorably, efficiently, and economically, reducing the margin between the cost of live stock and the selling price of dressed meat, until today the profit is only a fraction of a cent a pound—too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

The packing industry is a big, vital industry—one of the most important in the country. Do you understand it?

Swift & Company presents facts in the advertisements that appear in this paper. They are addressed to every open-minded person in the country.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story, of the packing industry, will be mailed on request to
